

Associate in Bible

Why should I choose the Associate in Bible degree? This 64-credit, two-year program is designed to prepare men and women in basic Bible and theological disciplines, as well as provide a broad General Educational experience. The program is constructed in such a fashion that it can be completed by building on the one-year Discipleship Certificate with a second year of study. While those taking this program are usually not looking for a four-year degree, students who complete this Associate degree can, in turn, build upon it to pursue a Bachelors degree at Grace University since its courses lay the foundation for virtually all of Grace's four-year programs.

What type of degree will I earn at Grace University if I enroll in this program? Graduates of this program will earn an associate's degree.

What kind of jobs would be available to me after I graduate from Grace University with this major? This program is especially useful to individuals who are unable to complete a four-year program, including those programs that can lead to avenues of Christian service, and are interested in being a biblically and theologically literate Christ-follower.
